In 1867 he was one of the most active spirits in the Border State convention at Baltimore to promote the adoption of the 15th amendment to the federal constitution. He labored hard in the campaign of 1888, which resulted in the election of the Republican legislative ticket in New Castle county, in recognition of which he received the complimentary vote of the Republican members in the January following, when Mr Bayard was elected to the United States Senate. In 1884 he was the Republican Congressional candidate, accepting the nomination with no chance or expectation of success.

Gen. Harrison

Rev. M. L. Haines, Gen. Harrison's pastor, has contributed to the Methodist Magazine, a new periodical of the Methodist Episcopal Church, the first number of which is just issued, a description of Gen. Harrison's manner and life. It reads as follows:

When Gen. Harrison came to Indianapolis, a young lawyer at the age of twenty-two, he was already a professing Christian. He had united with the Presbyterian church of Oxford, O., during his student life in Miami University. Mrs. Harrison and he brought their church letters with them and identified themselves immediately with the First Presbyterian church of this city. During the thirty-four years since that time they have been among its most consistent, efficient and honored members.

The Rev. Dr. J. H. Dixon, of Wilmington, R. D. Harper, of Philadelphia, J. T. Kemler, of Pittsburg, and Myron Reed, of Denver, each of whom has been in succession the pastor of the first church, could, I doubt not, give interesting reminiscences of the help they received from Mr. Harrison and his wife.

Mr. Harrison, when but twenty-four years of age, was elected to the office of deacon, and four years later, in January, 1861, under Dr. Nixon's pastorate, was made an elder, the ordination services, as the church record reads, being performed by the laying on of hands of the session. For some time before the war Mr. Harrison was superintendent of the Sunday school.

After his return from the army he was for a number of years, up to his election as United States Senator, the teacher of the Congregational Bible Class for men. So successful was he in this work that he drew to the class a large number of young men active in business and professional life. I meet among the officers and members of the churches of different denominations in the city not a few who speak with earnestness of the instruction and the inspiration to the true life they received while members of that class. One of his former members said to me, "General Harrison always had a clear conception of the truth in his head and he had truth also in his heart."

Amidst the press of professional engagements he somehow managed so as to rarely be absent, and during one of the political campaigns when he was speaking six days in the week, insisted that his appointments should be so arranged that he could get back to Indianapolis Saturday evening, and thus was enabled to meet his class Sunday morning. The faithfulness to duty thus exhibited has ever been a marked characteristic of the man. His faithfulness shows itself in the regularity of his attendance upon the Sunday and mid-week services of his church, and in the loyal and thorough way he meets the responsibility that rests upon him as an officer. He takes hold of his duties with both hands earnestly. "Our responsibility to God" is a phrase I have heard him use a number of times in his prayers and in such a tone as to make it clear that it is one of the greatest truths that shape his thought and conduct.

I sat in his office the day he received the nomination to the Presidency, with a few gentlemen. While the bulletins were being brought in one after another, announcing the ballots five minutes after they were cast in the Chicago Convention, and the calmest person in that little group was the one most interested in the result. When, at the beginning of the seventh ballot, the word came, "California solid for Harrison," a friend sitting next to the General turned to him and said excitedly, "General, that settles it, you are going to receive the nomination. How do you feel?" He answered in his quiet, deliberate way, "Well, if it does settle it, I feel more concerned than I did the other day when I thought I was beaten."

Those who hear Gen. Harrison when called upon to lead in prayer in the Thursday evening service in his church cannot but notice the simplicity and chasteness of expression, the humility of spirit and the deep sense of reverence that characterize his utterance. I venture to allude to this because the real disposition of a man's heart often comes to its clearest betrayal in his prayers.

There is about Gen. Harrison an utter absence of pretense or affectation. He discards any attempt to make a show of himself, and would be the last person to speak or act for mere effect. Open and straightforward in language and actions, he lacks that quality of a politician which makes one expert in pulling wires and in his hopes against the urgency of certain friends. He steadfastly persisted in his refusal to take any steps which would place him in the position of a seeker after the nomination to the office of President, and received that nomination, as I know from unquestioned authority, absolutely unpledged. The only promise he made was that if elected he would conduct the Administration on Republican principles.

Decided in his convictions, broad in his view, inspired by a high moral purpose, ruled by a conscience both strong and informed, he has led a life in this city conspicuous for its probity and stainless integrity. One who was his law partner for several years said of him: "He had as high a sense of honor as any one I ever knew, and the keenest sense of justice I ever saw in any one."

"The Real Tests."

The attention of persons contemplating Life Insurance is solicited to a few simple facts which alone constitute the true tests of the ability of a company to cheapen the cost of insurance from the established table rates. These principal elements determine it:

1st—Expense of management to income.

2d—Rate of interest obtained on mean amount of assets.

3d—Actual mortality compared with that expected.

The Tariff Bill Still Under Discussion.

Consideration of the Territorial Bills in the House.

Senate

WASHINGTON, Jan 16. The President's two messages in regard to affairs in Samoa and Hayti were laid before the Senate and referred with the accompanying documents, to the Committee on Foreign Relations

Mr Platt presented a copy of the proceedings of a State-hood convention held in North Dakota in favor of a division of the Territory and of the admission of North Dakota as a State

The Senate at 1 o'clock resumed consideration of the tariff bill

Mr Vest's amendment to strike "otter of roses" off the free list and substitute salt was rejected by the usual party vote

Mr Allison moved to amend paragraph 171 as to penknives and razors, also 172 as to table knives, changing the rate of duties. Both went over until to-morrow

The amendment heretofore offered by Mr Allison, making the duty on cross cut saws, 8, 10 and 15 cents per lineal foot, instead of 6, 8 and 11 was agreed to

After an agreement that from Friday till Tuesday next the daily hour of meeting be 11 a. m. the Senate adjourned

House

The House resumed consideration of territorial bills and was addressed by Mr Joseph, of New Mexico who presented the claims of that territory for admission into the Union

Mr Struble of Ohio said the minority of the committee was of the opinion that New Mexico was not qualified to be admitted. He cited the primitive methods employed by her people in agriculture and the fact that a large proportion of the inhabitants were unable to speak or understand English

Mr Voorhees of Washington Territory voiced the demand of the people of that Territory for admission. He painted a glowing picture of the natural resources of Washington and described the advantages her maritime position gave her.

Mr Mansur of Missouri, spoke in support of the Omnibus bill, especially in advocacy of the admission of New Mexico. He declared that in view of the rapid growth of the western country in education and development the reasons assigned by Mr Struble for refusing her statehood should have no force

After further remarks by Messrs Herman of Oregon, Baker, of New York, and Dubois, of Idaho, the House adjourned

Thirteen Arrested and Fined for an Outrage

BOSTON, Jan 16. A special to the Evening Herald relates a story of the "disciplining" of a member of the community of North Salem, N H, by fifteen masked men. The name of the man is John Welch and his offense was one against morality, that of living with a "grass widow." The White Caps called Welch to the door of his house on Christmas night, captured him, carried him a short distance, removed his clothing, coated him with grease and forced from him a promise to leave town, taking upon themselves to see that the promise was kept. Welch went to Portsmouth and there informed a lawyer of the outrage to which he had been subjected and the lawyer engaged the services of the Pinkerton detective agency in Boston which went there to work up the case. This has resulted in the arrest of thirteen of the "White Caps."

The Guilty Men Fined

EXETER, N H, Jan 16. [illegible] White Caps arrested at North [illegible] this morning for assault upon John [illegible] Welch, were brought here this forenoon and arraigned before Judge Clark, of the Supreme Court. All pleaded nolo contendere and eleven of them were fined $15 and [illegible] each while the other two were fined [illegible] and costs each. All paid their fines [illegible] their departure to [illegible] by train [illegible] Quite a crowd collected at [illegible] to [illegible] see them off

SAVED NINE LIVES.

A Boy's Prompt and Effective Acts

NEW HAVEN, Conn, Jan, 16. Last night three young women and six young men were running brakes on Dolbeare's pond in West Haven. The women skated too near the dam and broke through the ice. The men in an excited condition all recklessly jumped into the water to save the girls. They kept the girls afloat and tried to climb out upon the ice but the ice would not hold. They realized their dangerous situation and shouted loudly for help. Fred Morris an eighteen year old boy, skating at another part of the pond heard their cries, got a fence rail and by quick work landed the whole party, though himself subjected to a ducking by the careless endeavors of one of the men to help him. The rescued, thoroughly chilled, and nearly exhausted, started for the city without stopping to thank the young man to whom they owed their lives

JEWELRY AND SILVER WARE SEIZED

Several Firms Heavily Swindled

JERSEY CITY, N Y, Jan 16. Two cases of jewelry and silver ware were seized at the Bremen Steamship Company's pier, in Hoboken, to-day, by attorneys for several big crockery houses in New York. During the holidays A. M. Ebert bought from H. Strauss & Son $6,000 worth of silver ware and had it shipped to Ohio. They found that Ebert's firm did a large business and until they learned he had ordered and not paid for goods to the value of $70,000 from Charles Armfeldt & Son, J. M. Young & Co., H. Heiner and David Hedel & Co., they felt easy.

Then they found that thirty-eight cases of goods had been shipped from a little town in Ohio to Ebert's wife in London. These were intercepted, seized and found to contain goods from the firms named. The cases seized in Hoboken were addressed to Mrs. Ebert and also contained some goods. There was found in Ebert's stable $8,000 worth of spoons, tea sets, etc. Ebert is thought to be in Canada.

HENRY M. STANLEY.

His Letter to Tippoo Tib August 17th.

Emin Pasha has lots of Ivory and Cattle.

BRUSSELS, Jan 16. The following letter written by Henry M. Stanley has been received in this city:

BOMA OF BONALYA, MURUMBA, Aug 17. To Sheikh Hamed Ben Mahomed, from his good friend Henry M. Stanley

Many salaams to you. I hope that you are in as good health as I am and that you have remained in good health since I left the Congo. I have much to say to you, but hope I shall see you face to face before many days

I Reached Here this Morning

with 130 Manyuemas, three soldiers and sixty six natives belonging to Emin Pasha. It is now eighty two days since I left Emin Pasha on the Nyanza. I only lost three men all the way, two were drowned and the other deserted. I found the white men who were looking for Emin Pasha quite well, the other white man, Casati, is also well. Emin Pasha has ivory in abundance, thousands of cattle and sheep, goats and fowls, and food of all kinds. I found him

A Very Good and Kind Man

He gave all our white and black men numbers of things. His liberality could not be excelled. His soldiers blessed our black men for their kindness in coming so far to show them the way. Many of them were ready to follow me out of the country, but I asked them to stay quiet a few months that I might return and fetch the other men and goods I left at Yambunga. They prayed to God that he would give me strength to finish my work. May their prayer be heard. And now, my friend what are you going to do? We have gone the road twice over. We know where it is bad and where it is good, where there is plenty of food and where there is none, where all the camps are and where

We Shall Sleep and Rest

I am waiting to hear your words. If you go with me it is well. I leave it to you. I will stay here ten days and will then proceed slowly. I will move house to Big Island, two hours march from here, about this place. There, there are plenty of houses and plenty of food for the men. Whatever you have to say to me my ears will be open, with a good heart as it has always been toward you, therefore if you come, come quickly, for on the eleventh morning from this, I shall move on. All my white men are well, but I left them all behind except my servant William who is with me

(Signed) HENRY M. STANLEY

Sheikh Hamed Ben Mahomed to whom the above letter is addressed is the Arab Tippoo Tib

MISSISSIPPI LAWLESSNESS.

Negroes Driven Off and their Cabins Burned

Gov. Lowry Orders the Sheriffs to Put Down the Lawlessness.

JACKSON, Miss, Jan 16. Private information is received by Gov Lowry that mobs in counties in the southern part of Noxubee and the northern part of Kemper counties and that negro cabins are being burned and destroyed. The lawlessness grew out of the Wahalak trouble a few weeks ago. The avengers are still wreaking vengeance upon the negroes and much lawlessness is committed by irresponsible persons. The better class of citizens called on the Governor for assistance to stop it

Gov Lowry wrote the sheriff of Noxubee County to call out sufficient force to put down lawlessness and send a special messenger to the sheriff of Kemper County, the two officials to act in concert in the vicinity mentioned and to arrest all guilty persons promptly. The Governor insists that the county officials and peace officers shall do their duty. The New Mississippian has received a telegram corroborating the information received by the Governor and stating that over forty families have been run out of the two counties and their cabins burned

Rowe, President; Miss [illegible] Brown, Vice-President; Mrs A. Wilson, Secretary and Treasurer

As the books of "The [illegible]" the work to have been used by the Cecilia Club at its next concert have not come it is probable that the work to be taken up at the next rehearsal will be [illegible], a very attractive work. The oratorio of "Sampson" was tried at the last rehearsal and the time was well spent

The County Commissioners went to Lowell on Monday and established roads through the town and one from Olamon to Lowell. The Commissioners were in session in this city yesterday. They are having some needed repairs made in the jail, which will be an improvement to the building. Their next session in this city will be on the first Tuesday of next month

The new experimental station at the Maine State College has been completed and will be occupied in about a week. The apparatus and interior are now being arranged and work will soon be begun in the building. The station, which has already been described in the Whig, will be an excellent place for the purpose for which it is intended, and some valuable experiments and researches will be carried on there.

Prof F. S. Sewall's talk to-night at the Y. M. C. A. rooms on his trip abroad last summer will doubtless draw a full house. The lecture is free and all of our young men, whether members of the association or not, are most cordially invited to attend. Before the lecture Miss Annie Harley will sing the songs she intended to sing at the previous lecture, viz: "The Harp that once thro' Tara's Hall," "Kathleen Mavourneen," etc.

A remonstrance to the Legislature on the counter of Fuzzy's drug store, is receiving many signatures against making any change in the lobster law, and especially regarding the limit of size at which lobsters may be taken. It is believed by the signers that the present limit, ten and one-half inches long, is as low as it ought to be placed and as low as lobsters are really fit to be brought to market, sold and used. Those desiring to sign the remonstrance will find it there

The Bangor Rifle Club will have a shoot at the Maplewood range to-morrow forenoon at ten o'clock. The distance will be two hundred yards. The contest is open to all comers and there will probably be many who will wish to try their skill. Three cash prizes will be divided among the winners. The shooting will probably be done from the new club house through the apertures in the wall made for that purpose. With favorable conditions some good scores should be made.

Daniel Bandlett, an old man who lived at Hughes Point, North Islesboro, was found dead in his home Tuesday. Nobody lived with him except a small boy, his grandson. The old man laid down on a sofa during the forenoon and after some time the boy tried to wake him but could not. He went out and told the neighbors who came and found that he had been dead about two hours. He was a quiet man, well liked and was formerly a sailor. He has had charge of all the cottages, wharf and other property at Hughes Point for some time past.

Mercury is the evening star [illegible] his greatest elongation January [illegible] is then at his period of greatest brilliancy is further north than the sun [illegible] approaching the earth. The conditions are all favorable for observation and [illegible] will be visible to the naked eye on the [illegible] hour and a half after the sun sets. A careful observer if the [illegible] exceptionally clear must note the [illegible] and three-quarters of an hour after [illegible] will find Mercury seven degrees [illegible] the planet where the sun went down. [illegible] is well to find [illegible] with the [illegible] of an opera glass and when thus found the unaided eye can easily [illegible] course

A PLEASANT MEET. The [illegible] Club had its first meeting [illegible] at Phillips [illegible] and about seventy went out to enjoy the afternoon and evening. The day time was very pleasantly [illegible] tobogganing, skating, the [illegible] being smooth as a mirror and horse trotting, and in the evening a delicious supper was served at the hotel. There were various amusements and dancing in the hall to the music of Messrs Andrews [illegible] The members of the club returned to the city by special train about 11 o'clock very much pleased with the day's sport. Judging from the success of the first meet the remainder will be very enjoyable

DEATH OF MR JOSEPH HEALD. The Grand Rapids Democrat of [illegible] Mich. contains an extended notice of the late Joseph Heald of that city, whose death occurred from dropsy Jan 4th. Mr Heald, who was a brother of Mrs. Wall [illegible] Cutter of this city, was born in Norridgewock in this State March [illegible] and removed to Michigan in [illegible] where he engaged in the lumbering and [illegible] He retired from active business with a fortune in 1882 but was a [illegible] shareholder, Director and President of the Kent County Savings Bank, was interested financially in two furniture companies, was one of the builders [illegible] of the Heald & Heald block and was one of the promoters of the Farmer's [illegible] He was a man of generous impulses, of the strictest integrity and had a kindness of heart which made him many friends. He leaves a wife and one child to mourn his loss.

FEMALE CHARITABLE SOCIETY. At the annual meeting of the Female Charitable Society, held at Mrs James McLaughlin's Tuesday, the following officers were chosen for the ensuing year: President, Mrs James McLaughlin; Vice President, Mrs Caroline Mason; Treasurer, Mr Henry McLaughlin; Collector, Mr John S. Patten; [illegible] Miss Mary [illegible]; Secretary, Mrs S. B. Morison; Managers, Mrs C. Mason, Mrs R. S. Morison, Mrs [illegible] McLaughlin, Mrs [illegible] Strickland, Mrs [illegible] Patten, Mrs H. Griswold, Mrs M. [illegible], Miss E. Baldwin. The report of the Disbursing Committee which embraces the board of managers, shows that the small amount raised by yearly subscription fills a place in the benevolent work of the city, which no other society can. This association was established more than fifty years ago to aid in a quiet way those women, whose misfortune it may be to need it, but who would shrink from making an appeal to public or private charity. A little help given at the right time, has lightened many a burden and given encouragement to those struggling for a livelihood for themselves and those dependent upon them. Few of those who assisted in the formation of this society are left with us. Are there not enough among those who have filled their places, to keep up the work so well begun and so long continued by sending the small annual subscription of fifty cents to either of the managers of "The Bangor Female Charitable Society?"

ANNUAL MEETING. The annual church meeting of the Central church held last evening was very largely attended and of an exceedingly interesting character. After the reports of the Clerk, Deacon George [illegible] Hall, and the Treasurer, Deacon W. S. Dennett, reports were made from the Sunday school by the Superintendent, Mr Edgar L. Brown, the Society of Willing Workers, by the President, Mr A. C. Sawyer, the report of the Church Missionary, Miss Clara M. Pearl, being read by Deacon J. G. Blake. In some very interesting remarks by Mr H. A. Jordan the General Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association, he referred to the deep interest this church had always shown in its welfare. Deacon J. S. Wheelwright spoke in his usual clear and concise manner of the deep missionary spirit of the church which had been inspired by the teaching and preaching of the pastor Rev Dr Field. Prof F. S. Sewall followed in his own graceful and earnest way, referring to the reports that had been made, of the home and foreign mission work, speaking very complimentarily of the wide spread influence of the work being accomplished by Miss Lettie Johnson and Miss Grace Kimball in Turkey, closing with a glowing tribute to the pastor for the faithfulness and character of the preaching which had produced such grand results, wishing for many years continuance which was most enthusiastically applauded by the large number present. The election of officers resulted in the choice of the old board

ANNUAL MEETING. The annual meeting of the Merchants' Marine Insurance Company was held yesterday afternoon at the office of the company in Merchants' Square, for the election of officers for the ensuing year and for the transaction of other annual business. The election of officers resulted in the selection of the old board as follows: Directors, [illegible] Pendleton, John L. Cutler, Charles [illegible], [illegible] Stetson, John [illegible], J. J. Morse, Edward Stetson, Edward [illegible] Stewart, P. H. Nealley. At a subsequent meeting of the Directors P. H. Nealley was re-elected President and [illegible] Secretary. The reports that were read showed the company to be in a prosperous condition. A dividend of four per cent was declared.

Little Lord Fauntleroy

The [illegible] Little Lord Fauntleroy, which has been [illegible] wherever presented will be given at the Opera House Monday [illegible] day evenings and will undoubtedly witness [illegible]

[illegible] delightful [illegible] acted at the Museum [illegible] A most delightful play [illegible] unquestionably was the verdict of the Boston public upon the [illegible] in this country of Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett's dramatization of her own delightful story, "Little Lord Fauntleroy." On the whole, Mrs. Burnett's dramatization is not only successfully arranged but interesting to a [illegible] remarkable degree. It is the highest praise of "Little Lord Fauntleroy" as a play to say that it preserves the sweetness and heart-appealing characteristics of "Little Lord Fauntleroy," the story. The success of the book, however, seems to promise and assure the success of the play. Surely there should be appreciative theatre goers enough in Boston and New England to make this uniquely fascinating production one of the special triumphs of many a season
